

MORE SHIPS DOOMED ON CHICAGO REEFS

TWO VESSELS IN DISTRESS OFF THAT CITY.

Damage Done By the Storm—Schooner's Wrecked and Lives Lost—Gallant Work of Life Saving Crews—Half Frozen Men of the Schooner Cummings at Milwaukee Drown.

CHICAGO, May 19.—The wind is blowing forty miles an hour today. Two vessels can be seen off Twenty Eighth street in distress. It is thought they will go on the reef, as it is impossible to give any help. Yesterday afternoon eight vessels came to grief and at least ten lives were sacrificed. The lumber fleet suffered most. The financial loss approaches $100,000, to say nothing of the injury to the Illinois Central's right of way. At midnight several craft were in danger of going on the beach. Following are the vessels wrecked in the vicinity of Chicago: Schooner Evening Star, Capt. M. W. Kilton, crew of five rescued by people on shore; owned by W. D. Crocker and others; value of vessel, $6,000; no insurance; light.

Schooner C. G. Mixer, Capt. Henry Aebahs, crew of seven rescued by South Chicago life-saving crew; owner, Henry Aebahs, Chicago; value, $3,000; cargo, ties, valued at $3,000; vessel not insured; cargo insured.

Schooner Myrtle, Capt. Wilson, crew of six supposed to be drowned.

Schooner Lincoln Dall, Capt. S. Johnson, Anton Gundersen, Manistee, Mich., deckhand, drowned; crew of four rescued by Evanston life-saving crew, owned by crew and not insured; cargo, lumber, valued at $2,500.

Schooner Jack Thompson, Capt. Thomas Williams; John Johnson, cook, drowned; crew of six saved by people on shore.

Schooner J. Loomis McLaren, Capt. K. Johnson; J. Poland, mate, killed in midlake; crew of six rescued by police.

Schooner Mercury, Capt. M. Shumer; crew of seven rescued at Illinois Central pier; owner, Mrs. Sterling, Ludington, Mich.; cargo lumber valued at $1,500, not insured; value of vessel, $8,000; uninsured.

Schooner Rainbow, Capt. Pugh; four men rescued from vessel by tug Spencer; the captain and two men went ashore on a hatchway.

The number of lives known to have been lost is ten. The list is as follows:

GUNDERSON, ANTON, Manistee, Mich., sailor on Lincoln Dall, drowned at Glenwood.

JOHNSON, JOHN, cook on schooner Jack Thompson, fell from life lines and drowned.

POLAND, J., mate schooner J. Loomis McLaren, killed in midlake by falling spar.

SIDLO, THOMAS, sailor, Nineteenth and Morgan streets, swept from the government breakwater and drowned.

Before the life savers could again get their oars into the water the life boat had fallen off into the trough of the sea and was swept against the rigging of the Cummings and smashed. The life-saving crew was rescued by those on shore. Then for nearly three hours nothing could be done to save the men in danger. During these long hours of inactivity cowered up in topsails, many feet above the submerged deck, with the waves roaring beneath them, with the chill north winds cutting through the thin canvas, wet through, half starved and nearly frozen, the people in the rigging awaited release from their position. Four men, unable to longer hold out, dropped from the rigging and were drowned. Finally a line was got from the life-saving yawl to the schooner and the remainder of the crew rescued. The men who were saved were Frank Gurdiss, the life saver, who was left in the rigging in the morning, and Robert Patterson, a member of the Cummings crew. They were taken to the life-saving station and cared for.

It is reported here that three schooners are on the beach below South Milwaukee twelve miles south of here, but the rumor cannot be verified. In the city the storm did considerable damage. Trees were blown down and street car travel was impeded by the trees breaking the wires. At South Point it took out breakwaters which had stood the storms of years, washed out boat houses, and smashed boats into kindling wood or carried them away.

SCHOONER MOSES GAGE ASHORE.

Misses the Piers at Michigan City—All the Men Saved.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., May 19.—The schooner Moses Gage was driven ashore just west of the piers here at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Capt. Hurst and his crew of three men were brought ashore with the greatest difficulty by the life-saving crew. The Gage will undoubtedly go to pieces if the gale continues. The sea is running higher than has been known here in twelve years.

RACINE, Wis., May 19.—Shipping in the harbor here was damaged over $2,000 yesterday. The Racine schooners Kewanee, Rainbow, Belle, and Graham Brothers are all due to-day and grave fears are entertained for their safety.

MANITOWOC, Wis., May 19.—A heavy northwest gale with snow prevailed here all day yesterday. The schooner Christiana lost both anchors in the bay. Other boats were for a time in great danger, but none were wrecked.

ISHPEMING MAY GO ASHORE.

Riding at Anchor Off Presque Isle—Damage at Many Points.

ALPENA, Mich., May 19.—The steamer Ishpeming is trying to ride out the gale off Presque Isle, but it is feared it will be driven ashore. The wreck is full of water. Twenty vessels are sheltered in Thunder bay. The tug Owen lost a raft of 4,000,000 feet of logs last night and they are now coming on the beach above Middle Island.

SAND BEACH, Mich., May 19.—The scow St. Catherine dragged ashore two miles below here yesterday. The crew was saved.

ELK RAPIDS, Mich., May 19.—The schooner Mineral State, loaded with pig iron, was scuttled last night in order to prevent it from pounding.

ASHTABULA, Ohio, May 19.—When entering this port in a fog yesterday morning the steamer Bielman struck the east pier. The steamer was only slightly damaged.

BAY CITY, Mich., May 19.—The wind has been blowing a gale since Thursday night. A raft of 3,000,000 logs is ashore at the mouth of the river, and two tugs with a raft are in the bay now, but it is thought they will have to let go and leave the raft to go ashore.

MANISTIQUE, Mich., May 19.—John Anderson, a Swede 17 years of age, was drowned off a scow near Thompson at 5 o'clock p. m. The body was recovered.

Wreck Reported in Green Bay.

MENOMINEE, Mich., May 19.—Several boats have been wrecked here, but up to dark there had been no loss of life. The schooner Seizer was driven ashore fifteen miles north and is going to pieces. Its crew all reached shore safely. The captain of the Winslow had his leg crushed. The storm has done heavy damage to the dock of the Toledo & Ann Arbor railroad, most of the work being washed out, and the slip will be filled in. The steamer Moore, which came in for shelter, reports several fishing schooners driven on the beach, but no lives have been lost. Several docks of saw mills are in danger of being washed out.

GREEN BAY, Wis., May 19.—In the northeast gale, which raised the water at this end of Green Bay higher than for many years, the steamship E. S. Tice was driven ashore five miles from the harbor entrance. The steamer is almost out of water and a channel must be dredged before it can be floated.

Fierce Fires in Rhode Island.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 19.—The first reports sent out, that forest fires about Exter and West Greenwich were under control, were premature. It is raging fiercely and 600 men are doing the best to check its progress.

Pope Will Not Interfere.

DANBURY, Conn., May 19.—Mgr. Sallid denies that there is any truth in the report that the pope will interfere between the monsignor and his alleged enemies in America.

INQUIRY INTO CORRUPTION TO BE SECRET.

Closed Doors Will Be the Rule While the Committee Is in Session—Sale of Land By the Yuma Indians Confirmed By the Senate To-day.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Inquiry into bribery of senators by sugar barons and other tariff beneficiaries will be behind closed doors. This was decided upon by the committee to-day, the committee then adjourning. In the senate the bill was passed to ratify the agreement with the Yuma Indians for the sale of their land. The tariff bill was then taken up. Senator Harris, by his action of insisting upon extending the meeting hours of the senate, has resulted in bringing from the republicans the announcement that they will use all the powers they have, under the rules, to filibuster against tariff legislation. If that threat is carried to the extreme it means the Wilson bill will be juggled by the national legislators all summer. The only salvation against endless delay is in a break in the republican ranks. Even closure, which might bring relief to the senators, can not be secured with the republican ranks solid. It is rumored certain republicans may be willing to vote for closure in order to give the country relief from the uncertainty that accompanies an unsettled tariff law.

The latest story around the capitol is that Senator Hill has prepared a tariff bill which he will offer as a substitute for the pending compromise measure. His bill will not, it is said, contain the income tax features of the Wilson bill, but according to reports will be for tariff reform only. The tariff managers of the house have determined to take no further steps toward offsetting the tariff increases in sugar and other tariff amendments by riders to appropriation bills. This conclusion applies to sugar duties, but not to the bounty. It is said that abolition of the bounty may be taken up without a new rule, as it is the privilege of any member to offer a bounty amendment.

TO BUILD A BIG CANAL.

Three Rival Projects to Be Submitted to Arbitration.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—For years the committee on railroads and canals has been one of the honorary bodies of the house, one of the numerous committees with an existence chiefly on paper. This term the committee has waked up to an active consideration of the canal question and has spent considerable time in discussing the question of internal ship canals, a field in which several important propositions are before it. The project of a canal to connect the Ohio river with Lake Erie has been started from several sources this year. It has been decided to compromise the whole matter and Representative Ryan of New York, who is a member of the committee, has been delegated to prepare a compromise bill. This will stipulate for a survey of the most practicable route, to be decided upon by a board of three engineers appointed by the secretary of war.

HATCH CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS.

Anti-Option Bill Will Pass the House Soon He Declares.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—"My anti-option bill will pass the house by a big majority before May 30," said Col. Hatch yesterday. The colonel was very earnest. He usually is, but this morning he was particularly so. The news from Chicago telling of yesterday's slump in wheat was the cause. He looks upon these declines as unnatural, unwarranted and unjust. He thinks it was due solely to speculative causes. The laws of trade, he maintains, had nothing to do with it. Further slumps must be checked, he insists, and the anti-option bill is, he also insists, just the thing to stop them.

"It is outrageous," he said.

"Just think of it. According to the most reliable reports there are 75,000,000 bushels less wheat this year than last, and yet the price is 15 cents less."

She Is Not Annie Mooney.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 19.—Drunk Mary Cuneo has stated that Alice Freeman is her daughter. She tells a straight story but claims that a fortune now in Italy awaits the girl. She says that Alice was born in the stock yards district of Chicago in 1884 and that Andrew Cuneo of 166 North Franklin street, Chicago, was godfather to the girl.

Death List May Reach Eight.

TOLEDO, Ohio, May 19.—The revised list of dead and injured by the Kunkle tornado is four dead and three fatally injured. These are all expected to die. Mrs. Ella Evans, who lives a mile east of the track of the tornado, is missing. She started from Kunkle for home an hour before the tornado struck and had not been seen since.

Terrific Storm in New Jersey.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Southern New Jersey experienced a thunder storm last night. Fourteen houses were struck by lightning in Bridgeton, three at Cedarville, four at Newport, two at Dutch Neck, seven at Vineland, and several in Millville. Several barns were struck and burned to the ground.

Electric Light Wires Down at the Boygan—Frosts and Snow.

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., May 19.—The storm here was the worst known in years, but is going down. Telephone service was badly damaged, and live electric light wires were in the street. One horse was killed by electricity and a man knocked senseless. Thus far no loss of life has been reported. Several washouts occurred.

DAMAGE DONE IN WISCONSIN.

THE SHUPE A WRECK AND ALL ARE LOST

CREW CLUNG TO THE RIGGING FOR HOURS.

Water-Logged Schooner Finally Beaten to Pieces On the Shore Near Port Huron and the Crew Were Drowned—Intense Severity of the May Blizzard.

PORT HURON, Mich., May 19.—The schooner, William Shupe, went ashore this morning, and it is believed that the crew is lost.

PORT HURON, Mich., May 19.—The steamer Hackett, which returned to shelter here, reports passing the schooner William Shupe above Point Sanilac, water-logged and all its canvas blown away. The sea was washing over the wreck and the crew were all in the rigging. Without doubt the Shupe will go ashore and it is impossible for any of the crew to survive. There are five men and a woman on board.

The velocity of the wind at 7 o'clock last evening was fifty-nine miles an hour. The schooner Arctic is lying at anchor two miles above Fort Grattan light. It is riding out the gale all right. Everything that departed from here during the day has returned except the liners Boston, Northern Wave, Chemung and E. P. Wilbur and it is possible that they have got across the bay.

LOTS OF FROST IN THE AIR.

Much Damage Feared From the Low Temperature of Last Night.

ASSUMPTION, Ill., May 19.—The temperature has fallen 50 in the last twenty-four hours. Should it freeze to-night the wheat, corn, oats and late fruit will be entirely ruined.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., May 19.—A sudden change in temperature took place yesterday, the thermometer showing in the evening 40, against 30 Thursday.

TUSCULUM, Ill., May 19.—The mercury stands almost at freezing and fears are entertained for the safety of the crops.

FAIRBURY, Ill., May 19.—The wind has blown a gale here breaking off the young bearing branches of trees and shoots of the grape vines.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., May 19.—A change of 50 degrees in the temperature has taken place here in less than twenty-four hours. Great anxiety is felt lest frost may be severe enough to kill fruit and vegetation. A heavy frost now would work thousands of dollars damage to central Illinois.

SNOW IN NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

Fall Reaches Six Inches at Cadillac—Fruit in Great Danger.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., May 19.—The temperature has fallen 50 degrees here within the last twenty-four hours, and the mercury now is 36 degrees. Fruit men are considerably worried over the danger of a killing frost. Yesterday afternoon snow fell here at intervals, while farther north there was a heavy snowfall. At Lake City and Cadillac the snow is six inches deep. The temperature in the northern part of the lower peninsula is now at the freezing point. Most of the orchard fruit could now resist a severe frost, but the smaller fruits are in great danger.

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich., May 19.—Mingled snow and rain with high north wind have whipped fruit trees badly, but unless frost occurs to-night a large crop is still assured.

EAST TAWAS, Mich., May 19.—Heavy snowstorm and northeast gale prevailed all yesterday. Much damage is claimed to fruit.

ASHLAND, Wis., May 19.—The old portions of Ashland's breakwater are almost demolished, the seas breaking entirely through at three different places and wrecking it the entire length, so that it will have to be rebuilt. The new portion stood well. The damage will probably reach $75,000.

KILLED WHEN HIS BARN FELL.

Henry Spigel Meets Death During a Cyclone.

LA PORTE, Ind., May 19.—A cyclone swept over the southern part of this county last night near Kingsbury. Henry Spigel's barn was demolished and the owner, who was standing therein, instantly killed.

PERU, Ind., May 19.—Reports from the county show great damage from the storm. A large mill and numerous buildings were unroofed in this city. In Pipe Creek township a brick church and numerous barns were razed. The storm area was two miles wide.

ELWOOD, Ind., May 19.—Property to the value of $10,000 was destroyed here by the storm. At Franklin, five miles south of this city, the Smith City iron works, in course of construction, were destroyed, with a loss of $10,000.

KOKOMO, Ind., May 19.—The roof of the furnace of the Diamond plate glass works was blown off and Zion church, four miles east, was destroyed. The damage in the county will exceed $100,000.

DAMAGE DONE IN WISCONSIN.

Electric Light Wires Down at the Boygan—Frosts and Snow.

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., May 19.—The storm here was the worst known in years, but is going down. Telephone service was badly damaged, and live electric light wires were in the street. One horse was killed by electricity and a man knocked senseless. Thus far no loss of life has been reported. Several washouts occurred.

COXEY GETS A STAY OF SENTENCE

He and His Greasy Lieutenants Resisted at Least Until Monday.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The sentences of Coxey, Browne and Jones were today respite until Monday. The industrial leaders declare themselves confident that the sentence of the court will never be executed.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 19.—Randall's army arrived here last evening. It was supplied with rations by a committee from the Trades and Labor council, who had received numerous donations. The army will remain in Fort Wayne to-day and Sunday.

STRIKES DEPRESS IT.

Yet Trade Shows Remarkable Soundness in Spite of Them.

NEW YORK, May 19.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

"The obstacles to improvement do not lessen. The strikes of coal miners and coke workers have not ceased, but have caused the stoppage of numerous works this week and embarrassment to some railroads. The conference at Cleveland exhibited much angry feeling and wider differences than had been expected and seems to render agreement more distant. Proceedings in the senate do not indicate that the latest form of tariff revision has made speedy final action more probable. Yet the recuperative force of the country is so great that observers are constantly amazed at the volume of business being transacted, the tonnage being transported, the number of works resuming operations, and the general soundness of trade, notwithstanding influences which in any other land would produce dire disaster.

"Wheat has sold at 57 cents for May and 57 1/2 cents for July, though western receipts have been only 1,215,543 bushels for the week, against 6,313,046 last year. Exports were but 791,727, against 2,090,164 bushels last year, and the fact that gold goes in stead of wheat at 57 cents or cotton at 7.19 cents has more weight than the rapidly brightening prospects of yield next fall. The soundness of the commercial world is shown in the diminished importance of failures, the liabilities reported for the second week of May amounting to only $1,937,538, of which $1,490,932 were of trading and $446,606 of manufacturing concerns. The failures this week have been 230 in the United States, against 247 last year, and 24 in Canada, against 14 last year."

ASQUITH MAY RELENT.

His Bride Is Much Interested in the Case of Mrs. Maybrick.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—According to a private letter received here from London the friends of Mrs. Maybrick have renewed hope that the strenuous efforts that have been put forth to secure a reinvestigation of her case may soon be crowned with success. These hopes are based on the fact that Miss Margot Tennant, who was married last week to Right Honorable H. H. Asquith, has taken a warm interest in the efforts that have been put forth for the imprisoned American, and as she is now the bride of the home secretary, by whom all proceedings for the relief of Mrs. Maybrick must be initiated, it is thought that she may be able to bring her husband around to her way of thinking.

FISHPLATES ON THE TRACK.

Tramps Put Off a Freight Train Try to Wreck an Express.

WORCESTER, Mass., May 19.—Tramps made an attempt to wreck a night express train on the Boston & Albany road, near Cordaville, by piling a ton of fishplates on the track. The train was going at the rate of forty miles an hour when it struck the obstruction and went through without serious injury, only the locomotive being damaged. The conductor of a freight train which precedes the express reports that he put eighteen tramps off his train at South Framingham, and it is supposed that they placed the obstruction on the track.

Snow Storm Throughout Iowa.

Dubuque, Iowa, May 19.—The spectacle of snow falling after the middle of May was seen yesterday morning. After several days of extreme hot weather, resulting Thursday in prostrations by sun stroke, the mercury sunk from 90 to 42 degrees inside of twelve hours. There is every indication of frost.

Dams in Minnesota Go Out.

ROYALTON, Minn., May 19.—The recent heavy rains have swollen all the creeks and rivers in the neighborhood.

The dam on Skunk brook, known as Pine Knoll, went out yesterday, also the Easty dam on Hillman brook. The dam at Rice's mills has also gone out. The Plate river is higher than in years and is still rising. It is feared that the dam at Rice lake will go also. Should it give way both dams here would be in danger.

Fatal Explosion at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 19.—A serious explosion occurred in the cupola of the Buffalo School Furniture company's foundry. Five molders were hurt, one of whom will die. About seventy-five men were working in the foundry. The molten iron was thrown about and the men were both cut and burned by the flying metal.

FINED A PROFESSOR FOR RIDING A BIKE.

BELOIT LAYS IMPIOUS HANDS ON A PATRIARCH.

Prof. Whitney's Arrest On the Charge of Bicycling on the Sidewalk Will Provoke the Law and Order People of the City to Sharp Reprisals.

BELOIT, May 19.—No town but Beloit—Beloit where professors are thick as blackberries in August—would dare to arrest an elderly and sedate professor for riding a bicycle. Professor Whitney was the man and his arrest was because he rode on the sidewalk. The thing was preparing through months and at last came off. The professor came wheeling down the sidewalk past the opera house. One of the aldermen called his attention to the fact he was on forbidden ground and he instantly reformed. But it was for that he was the next day arrested. The police justice refused to suspend the fine on account of ignorance. Being technically in the wrong, the professor paid the fine of $2 and the fees of $3 and went his way. The scheme had worked and would go down in the history of Beloit as about the nastiest thing ever done.

But now the schemers are hearing very disagreeable things. They are told that to look consistent the police must be equally strict with gamblers, the saloonkeepers and all that fraternity; they are told that they are to be held strictly to account themselves. Added strictness in prosecutions for other offenses will follow Professor Whitney's arrest. The plot was cooked up originally as a means of punishment for the professor because of his sharp comments on local evils.

"TO HUNT TAYLORS.

Six Federal Officers Started from Kansas City Friday Morning.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 19.—Six United States deputy marshals, headed by R. C. Pierman, left here this morning for Linn and Sullivan counties to hunt for the Taylor brothers, who murdered the Meeks family. The citizens of these counties are incensed over the probable escape from the state of the Taylor brothers and have decided to raise $3,000 to be offered as a reward for the culprits. One man has donated $200, with the stipulation that the murderers be immediately hot when captured.

WRECKED BY A COW.

NO CITY OFFICERS FOR TWENTY YEARS.

BY PAYING $10,207.86 WATER-TOWN IS FREED.

Judgements of Over One Million Dollars Have Been Hanging Over the City Since 1870 and No Municipal Government Has Been Possible In All That Time.

It costs $10,207.86 to buy Watertown the right to have a city government. Now for the first time since 1870 Watertown, by paying the judgment, may rejoice in the possession of regular municipal officers.

Watertown has had no municipal head for years. The practice has been to elect officers. The officers-elect would then at some time when there was no danger, qualify, hold a meeting to transact necessary business and then resign.

The case of Metcalf was the last case against the city of Watertown, all of the other cases having been settled. It runs back to 1866, when Pitkin C. Wright obtained a judgment against the city of Watertown in the United States circuit court on some of the railroad bonds. In 1870 other suits were to be brought to recover on bonds to the amount of nearly $1,000,000. The city of Watertown started on a systematic plan to avoid payment of all the indebtedness. This was by the refusal to elect a mayor or other municipal officer on whom service could be had.

The question was finally raised whether the state statute of limitation had not outlawed all outstanding obligations. Every case was decided in favor of the city with the exception of the Metcalf case. In the other cases the question of contention was whether the law of limitation operated when no service could be had. The courts decided that it did, and so the city escaped.

By the Metcalf decision the city will have to pay $10,207.86, and it will be free from all claims growing out of the bond issue. It may be necessary to bond the city to meet this obligation.

STOP AND THINK; HOW'S YOUR LIVER

McChesney Kidney and Liver Cure Meeting With a Rapid Sale.

The ingenuity of man has been taxed for many generations to discover a remedy that would restore youth and put new life into failing man and womanhood. Many nostrums of cheap whisky and cheaper drugs have been concocted, and some of them extensively sold throughout the country, recommended for every conceivable disease to which human flesh is heir, and thousands of dollars of honest money have been squandered by the people on this class of remedies. Many of these cheap concoctions are known as Kidney and Liver Cures; a very popular name, because diseases resulting from these sources are more common than any other. It is a well known fact that a torpid liver and diseased kidneys clog and poison the circulation, producing headache, dizziness, languor and depression, and not infrequently a long and tedious illness, resulting often in death. When these conditions prevail, the sufferer very naturally seeks a remedy, and he has no trouble in finding what purports to be a cure-all, for the country is flooded with flaming advertisements, and the press is filled with astonishing announcements of kidney cures, sarsaparillas and a host of other remedies for these very common, but frequently very obstinate, diseases.

In Dr. McChesney's experience and extensive practice as a specialist he has had much to do with diseases of the blood, as well as diseases resulting from kidney and liver complaints. For the first class of diseases he has found his Blood Purifier and Catarrh Cure a never-failing remedy; while in treating diseases of the kidneys and liver he has been even more successful with his Kidney and Liver Cure. These two remedies are now placed on the market for the benefit of suffering humanity, and will be appreciated wherever used.

No organs have more to do with the general health than do the liver and kidneys. The liver supplies through the bile duct, opening into the intestines just below the stomach, a secretion known as bile, a very essential element in aiding digestion. When the liver is active and in good working order, it produces in quantity and quality the right kind of material, but when from any cause it becomes torpid and dull, it refuses to act, and the accumulation of bile is picked up by the blood in large quantities than it can properly handle, and the whole system becomes permeated with it. As a result the skin takes on a yellow hue, and the subject is said to have jaundice. This is only one of many diseases that follow in the wake of an inactive liver. In fact, the diseases are so numerous and common that the old by-word, "How's your liver?" has long since become an axiom. A disordered liver will produce more ill feeling and a great variety of complaints than any other diseased organ of the body. Weariness, dizziness, languor, nausea, indigestion, loss of appetite, melancholy and suicide can be traced directly to a torpid liver.

The kidneys, located above the loins on either side, are for the purpose of cleansing and purifying the blood and separating the water or urine from the life giving fluid. When the blood leaves the kidneys, if they are in healthy condition, it is pure; but when the kidneys are diseased, the urine that should be excreted is retained in the blood and carried through the system, poisoning it in every part. If kidney diseases are neglected fatal results often follow, diabetes and Bright's disease being the most common. When these conditions prevail the skin becomes parched and dry, and the fluid secretion passes through the kidneys in large quantities of urine.

Nature has provided antidotes for every disease and science, in its researches, has made many wonderful discoveries. Our grandmothers rank high in this domain of science, and the roots and herbs that were gathered year after year and stowed away in the old garret, to be used when the liver got out of order, will be recalled with pleasant memories by every man and woman who had a grandmother of this type.

Later developments have brought to light certain roots and herbs found only in tropical climates that possess wonderful medicinal qualities and act directly and very effectively on the two organs described—the liver and kidneys. For the last ten years Dr. McChesney has used these foreign products in the remedy he now offers to the public with marked success. One teaspoonful four times a day will regulate the liver and kidneys and restore them to their normal condition. The packages are large and a single bottle will yield remarkable results. It is the greatest regulator ever offered and may well be considered an invaluable remedy.

CHOKERS ARE DOOMED.

Low Necked Garments Will Be In Vogue Again This Year.

It is said that low necked garments are to be worn again this year. They are not cut to an evening lowness, of course, but are in the collarless style of five years ago and of 30 years previous to that. This will be a sudden and decided contrast to the high collars and various tall fluffinesses now prevalent, but the style has, as a matter of fact, appeared in Paris, although it is little seen here yet. It has its advantages.

SUMMER MANTLE.

tags. It gives entire freedom of movement to the neck, affords relief from the suffocating feeling that the well named "chokers" cause and is a particularly becoming mode to robust women who have a short neck. Any change in dress which liberates neck and women from artificial and unnecessary trammels without detracting from a pleasing appearance is a good one, and it is unfortunate that the rational intervals of fashion are as transient as her absurd caprices.

Summer gowns, at any rate, are very pretty and comfortable made without a collar, and it is to be hoped that this style will prevail over that of the standing collar, which has appeared this season even on muslin blouses. For the street the corsage may be cut down about an inch all around and the edge trimmed with a ruching of two inch ribbon thickly plaited or a very full frill of lace. This prevents the neck from seeming too much uncovered and adds very little to its warmth.

Numerous adjustable articles of neckwear are shown which may be worn with collarless gowns when occasion requires that the costume shall be high at the throat. Black and white are a favored combination for these trifles, and pretty ones are shown made of black crepe de chine edged with narrow ecru lace. As a usual thing, they have long ends in front, and ribbon enters largely into their composition.

An illustration is given of a short summer mantle made of black satin. It has short caplike sleeves composed of five ruffles of lace and is trimmed with jet passementerie and tulle embroidered with jet, which forms revers in front and epaulets. The neck is cut down and has no collar, and a rosette of black satin ribbon is placed at the back. Bretelles of ribbon, beginning under bows at the shoulders, extend to the waist behind.

On To Washington.

What memories those three words awaken in the hearts of many old veterans of '63. Then it meant death and destruction, but now it means only a peaceful crusade calculated to produce merriment and jest. It means now that Coxey is marching on, in fact has reached the goal, and Washington has been taken. A revolution is in progress, a revolution in the retailing of wrappers, waists, suits, wash silks, summer dress fabrics, such as ducks, dimities, sateens, India mouseline, summer underwear, muslin underwear, aprons, children's hats and bonnets, laces, baby trappings, spring garments, curtains, carpets, etc. A revolution in prices. We handle more goods than any other two dry goods houses in Southern Wisconsin and buy them a little cheaper than others do; giving such GOOD QUALITY as we do at prices as low as competitors ask for inferior is what makes us so strong; what gives us such a firm grip on the people's confidence. Some small stores blow hard, pay big advertising bills, trying to boom business right when business should be booming, the busiest time in the year. We keep saying a little something; do not find it necessary to buy a whole paper, but are kept on the jump all day long.

15c is our price for 50 pieces of FRENCH SAT-EENS, black grounds, assorted lovely printings. They are extra fine, the genuine French, and 25c is what you pay for them at other place.

BRAGS OF LOW WAGES.

The Recorder ingeniously set forth

that democratic times are a blessing

to the country because they compel

workingmen to accept smaller wages.

The copper mills are cited as an instance. Where skilled wire-makers

got $4 a day two years ago they now work for $1.75. Helpers are plenty at $5 a week, and this in cities

where expenses are twice what they are in Janesville.

The lumber camps are also relied on

by the Recorder to support its claim.

They establish one point beyond any question—that men are working this year for half what they got in the winter of 1892-3. Why the Recorder

wishes to have this fact brought out

is hard to tell, but whatever the reason,

there is no need to go as far north

as the pine country or as far east as

Pittsburg. Right here in Janesville

are any number of toilers who feel

fortunate to get a dollar a day now

when they expected double that only twelve months ago. The shrinkage

in wages may be an argument for democracy, but workingmen will require considerable explanation before

they will accept it.

There is no need of any investigation by a congressional committee to ascertain the cause of the industrial depression. Every intelligent man and woman knows the cause to be

fear of democratic tariff tinkering.

Let the senate kill the tariff bill and

in ninety days there will be no depression to investigate.

If there is any trust that has not been taken care of in the amendments

to the tariff bill it should lose no time

in communicating with Senator Brice,

who will see that the oversight is corrected.

Germany doesn't deal as well with the democratic party as England does, or

it would not be "kicking" because of that duty on refined sugar, given to aid the sugar trust.

It seems that it was the sugar trust

that originated the Hawaiian policy

Mr. Cleveland tried so hard to carry out.

The demagogues in congress are trying to get in some fine work these days, but they are not fooling as many people as they would like to.

PLANT BEDS ARE WELL ALONG

Reduced Acreage Is Less and Less Probable As the Spring Advances.

Tobacco plant beds are coming forward amazingly fast and will require

a good deal of hustling on the part of the farmers to get their fields in readiness to receive the plants before they are too large for transplanting. The Edgerton Reporter remarks: "A forward

season with an abundance of plants

for early setting bids fair to prove a great temptation to growers to extend their tobacco fields beyond the intended limits. Herein lies a danger that the tobacco farmer needs be warned against. The argument for a reduction in acreage has frequently

been urged in this column,

though it might be well to keep it prominently in view. The grower

must not lose sight of the fact that a good deal of the '91 crop, nearly all of

'92 and the whole of the '93 crop, in the aggregate enough to supply the needs of consumption for nearly two years, is on hand in either packer's or grower's possession. In the absence of satisfactory demand for these goods

in the near future what inducement

can there be to keep on planting the usual acreage. Ought it not to commend itself to every farmer to cut down the acres and wait until an over-

stocked market has been relieved of its surplus."

Keeping Everlastingly At It.

The best way to succeed is to keep working away. Never let up. Spasmodic business never pays. The reason

Sart, Bailey & Co. are selling so

many more goods than their competitors is because they always have something to offer and never let an opportunity pass by to get something cheap.

Having plenty of money, they pay cash, and get the lowest prices. Their Fruit of the Loom muslin sale was the biggest success of the season. Yesterday afternoon after the sun came out they were packed with people.

Monday they have something else for

you. See the 8th page of this issue.

Amuse the Babies.

It is phenomenal the number of dining room sets and baby buggies Frank

Kimball is selling. The prices Mr. Kimball is now placing on high grade

furniture such as is named in his large

advertisement in this issue can not be met outside Chicago. Mr. Kimball wants everybody to call in and see,

whether they buy or not. It will do you good to see fine furniture at lower

prices than cheap furniture.

Pleased the Whole Family.

Mr. Dacy, of Woodstock, Ill., writes

the Wisconsin Carriage Top Co. that

"The Wisconsin King buggy you sent

has arrived and I not only like it but the whole family are delighted with

it. Send me another one. It is the best buggy for the money I ever saw."

The Object of Considerable Attraction.

The moment D. Ryan added to his stock the Albemarle Stanhope that he purchased of the Wisconsin Carriage

Top Co. he has had a constant demand

for it and his customers say "that it is the easiest riding vehicle they ever

rode in."

MRS. J. C. ZINCK is in Watertown. A Favorable Coincidence.

DURING the last thirty days W. F. Hayes has been in Chicago attending lectures on the eye and the fitting of glasses. While there and during a lecture one day, a lady called on the professor of the college to have some glasses adjusted. As the professor was in the midst of his lecture, he called upon Mr. Hayes to wait on the lady, at the same time saying to him "the subject I am talking about is an old story to you. You know all about it and do not need to hear what I say." Mr. Hayes waited on the lady and fitted her perfectly, and in the course of conversation discovered that she was from Milton, Wis., and that she had been advised to call at F. C. Cook & Co's. jewelry store to have spectacles adjusted. Little did this lady think that she was being treated by the same person who would have treated her at F. C. Cook & Co's. had she called. If Mr. Hayes can satisfy the people in Chicago he surely can in Janesville. And you need not go there. Mr. Hayes is the most thorough optician in the city, in fact, there are few better in the United States.

MOTHER GETS $3,000 FOR HER SON'S DEATH

C. M. & ST. P. ROAD SETTLES WITH MRS. MCCARTHY.

Her Boy, Will Murphy, Was Thrown From the Roof of a Freight Car By a Telephone Line That Crossed the Track and Was Horribly Mangled.

Three thousand dollars is due to Mrs. Mary McCarthy from the C. M. & St. P. road and will shortly be passed to her hands. Her son, William E. Murphy, a brakeman in the employ of the St. Paul road, was killed in the company's yards in Rockford on the night of July 26, 1893, being knocked off the car by a telephone wire. He fell on the railway track, the cars passing over and terribly mangled his body. Murphy was the son of Mrs. McCarthy by a former husband. Mrs. McCarthy commenced a suit against the railway and telephone company for damages, placing her case in the hands of Winans & Hyzer.

The case has been settled outside the courts. Mrs. McCarthy is to receive the sum of $3,000 in full settlement. Attorney McEvoy, of the firm of Ross & McEvoy, of Rockford, arrived in the city last evening, representing the defendant companies. It was a brief conversation he had with Winans & Hyzer, and when he left for home an agreement had been reached by both parties whereby the above sum is to be paid.

STEWART WANTED "ALIX" PULLED

Driver Curry Alleged That the Millionaire Offered Him $2,000

Everybody in Janesville who knows a horse from a hay stack knows Alix, the gamelittle mare that trotted so good a race on the driving park track. A good many people also know Millionaire Bob Stewart, who came here first as owner of White Stocking and has been here at nearly every meeting since. An investigation has been made in Chicago of the charge that Stewart offered the driver of Alix a bribe to "throw" a race at Washington Park last fall. Another charge was that a conspiracy existed to prevent Alix from winning. Alix's driver, Curry, took the stand, and swore that after four heats had been run he was offered $2,000 by Stewart to pull Alix and drop the next heat.

J. R. Griffiths testified that he heard Orrin Hickok tell Driver Curry that Stuart was waiting to see him. Morris J. Jones owner of Alix, testified that he was told before the fifth heat that an attempt would be made to foul Alix. The pole was to be taken from him by Pixley, and Alix would then "be taken care of," by Ryland T. and other horses. Jones warned the judges, but the foul was committed by Pixley at the time and in the manner that he had been told it would happen. Rudd Doble denied all knowledge of any conspiracy to defeat Alix, and Robert Stewart denied emphatically that he had tried to induce Curry to throw a heat. The judges held that the charges were not established.

PELTON'S $50,000 MAKES A FIGHT

Fortune Scraped Together During Years of Labor Causes Much Litigation.

It will take a week to end the David M. Pelton will contest. Pelton was a wealthy and eccentric old bachelor, residing in Be'oit, and died when he was about ninety years old, leaving an estate valued at about $50,000. All this money he got by saving from the proceeds of day labor. In 1886 he executed a will, bequeathing the greater part of his property to his nephew, Henry H. Smith. To a niece, Ellen C. Smith he gave $500, and to another niece, Nellie M. King he gave $3,000 and to a nephew, Charles Pelton, $3,000 and also one quarter interest in his real estate in Turtle, being a farm. Many of the relatives were forgotten by the old man and even some who were remembered were not satisfied. All joined in a contest to break the will, except Henry H. Smith, and the widow of Charles Pelton, who according to the will, receives the bulk of the property. The contestants allege unsound mind as their ground to set aside the document. The action now pending is brought as a test case, entitled "In the matter of the will of David M. Pelton, deceased."

Where Did You Get That Hat?

Such remarks can be heard from almost everyone you meet, and the answer invariably is "At Ziegler's." Such a display of hats as Ziegler has is never seen outside the large cities. It is impossible for any one to try to sell hats while Ziegler is running his hat sales. He buys ten times as many as any clothier in the city and gets them at prices which are beyond all their ideas. This great hat sale will continue Monday. Fine stiff hats, latest styles from 25 cents up.

PROPOSITION LAID BEFORE LOCAL BUSINESS MEN.

Manufacture of Knitting Machinery Intends to Leave Chicago—The Only Bonus He Wants Is An Electric Light Franchise—Lower Insurance Rates to Be Discussed.

Business men will have important matters to consider at their special meeting on Monday evening. One of great importance will be the matter of fire insurance and rates. W. T. Fales is remaining in the city for the purpose of forming a syndicate of Janesville business men, and important details may be ready for consideration on Monday evening.

President Vankirk will also lay before the meeting a proposition of a manufacturer who desires to locate in some western city. He agrees to employ within one year fifty hands in the manufacture of knitting machinery and possibly the manufacture of underwear, in which case two hundred hands will be employed. The plant is now located in Chicago, and will be removed to the town which will give a franchise for the furnishing of electric lights, in order that some return may be had for machinery which it will be necessary to construct. The firm asks no other bonus, having their own capital invested. A small water power would be accepted in lieu of the electric franchise. This proposition comes from a reliable source, and President Vankirk deems it one that the business men should carefully consider.

THE BONNY DOON.

I paused beside the bonny Doon
At midnight and alone
And heard it tell the listening moon,
In saddest undertone,
The loss and sorrow by it known.

"What though in spring my birks grow sweet,
In summer shade my tide?
What though the years unchanged repeat
Their magic at my side?
No more to me the bard returns
Who sang my banks and braes;
No more the lips of Robert Burns
Are vocal in my praise."

"Oh, bonny Doon!" said I, "take heart
And learn this truth of me:
Immortal as his heavenly art
The bard himself must be.
Though never to your banks and braes
His wandering step returns,
The sweetest singer in your praise
Is still your Robert Burns."

Yet, as before, beside the Doon,
At midnight and alone,
I heard it tell the listening moon,
In saddest undertone,
The loss and sorrow by it known.

A MADMAN'S MYSTERY.

I have seen a newborn baby in its
crib, with its eyes wide open, peering into the life just opened to it. I have heard persons wonder what the little brain is thinking about, what it sees
and how its new surroundings affect it.
I know what life seems to a newborn
child, for I was but as a newborn child
when I awoke to life, and opening my mouth cried out involuntarily to attract
the attention of the woman at the window.

She arose from her chair and came hurriedly to me.

"Ah," said she in a sweet, low voice.
"At last you live. Rest now. Try to sleep. You will get well."

I did not understand her words at the time, but they filled me with a satisfied
feeling, a desire to close my eyes and sleep. I lay half unconscious for some time, teaching myself object lessons,
and soon I could name the various articles I saw about me. But, try as I would, I could not remember my name
or anything about myself.

I became strong enough to get up from my bed, and to sit at the window, and to look out upon the snow covered ground,
and to watch the gray and the blue in
the ocean, and to talk about the room.

One morning I determined to see whether the nurse knew anything about me, so I called her to my bedside.

"Do you know my name?" I asked her.

She looked at me in surprise and wonder.

"No," she said.

"Well, do you know anything about me?"

She looked even more surprised.

"Nothing," she said, "nothing, except that two months ago some of our people found you on the beach apparently dead. We have nursed you back to life. Don't you remember anything about yourself at all?"

I had to admit that I did not.

"Well, will you tell me where I am?"
I asked her.

"You are in the town of Astine, on the coast of Nova Scotia," she replied.

"Astine,"—the word seemed familiar
to me—"Nova Scotia" also familiar,
but I could not tell when or where I had heard the words before.

About a week after this occurred my nurse came to me and told me that the village doctor had said that I could go out for a walk. She offered to go with
me. I gladly accepted her companionship, and together we walked out into the cold, fresh, life giving air and down
toward the ocean.

We came upon an old ruined building.

"What is this?" I asked her.

"The ruins of the house where the Ayraults lived."

"The Ayraults—have you ever mentioned that name to me before?" I asked her suddenly.

"No," she answered. "Why do you ask?"

"Oh, I do not know, except that the name sounded familiar to me, as if I had heard it many, many times. Why,
even when you spoke it I thought—how foolish of me—that you had spoken my name. Who were they?"

"They lived here for many years in this old house. The son and mother were drowned years ago. The father, I believe, is still alive. He lost his mind,
and every now and then is seen wandering about here looking for his son, who,
he says, will return to him some day.
Why, look there! There he is now!"

But I heard no more that the woman said. I but saw an old man, white haired, with wild eyes, staggering toward me.

I looked at the sea.

Once more the world became dark.

And then—maybe I dreamed, maybe
it was a picture I saw, maybe it was my memory come back to me.

"I stood at the window looking out upon the sea, partly hidden from my sight by a fine white mist, which I could plainly see coming in, sweeping along
before the wind over the water up the hill toward the house. The sea roared sullenly, and the waves dashed angrily
up over the rocky beach, occasionally
the spray leaping higher than the mist,
suspended for a second above it, sparkling in the moonlight.

"I opened the window, and as I did
so the thick mist, which had now come up over the hill, came pouring into the room. Despite the cold I stood entranced, amazed, looking out upon the wonderful beauty of the night. The wind grew fiercer, the sea dashed the foam from its lips up above the blanket of the white mist. The moon for a moment shone down upon it, transforming it into so much fiery silver. Then the foam sank again down deep into the mist.

"Suddenly there came a boom, followed by a glare across the heavens.

"I knew what that meant.

"A vessel ashore," I cried, "in that surf, on those rocks. God have mercy on those on board."

"There came a loud knocking at my door.

"Who is there?" I asked.

"It is I," came the voice of my father.
"Open, I beg of you."

"I went to the door, raised the latch and admitted him. My mother was with him. They were fully dressed.

"'Boom!' came through the white
mist from the vessel pounding upon the beach.

"Yes, now I could hear the vessel as she beat her brains out.

"Then the heavens were illumined by
a second rocket.

"Did you hear? Did you see?" asked my father.

"Yes," said I, "it is a vessel ashore."

"We must go to that vessel," he said
resolutely. "They will need our help.
You will go?"

"Yes," I said.

"And I, too," cried my mother.

"My father tried to dissuade her.

"This is no woman's work," he said.
"But she would not be frightened.

"I will die with you," she said resolutely.

"Out into the storm we rushed, down
to the beach, where the frightened villagers stood looking vainly out toward the doomed vessel.

"They ran toward us as we approach-
ed. They would not go out in the boat,
they said—it was death.

"At least," said my father, "you will help me get the boat into the surf?"

"But they would not even help get the boat into the surf.

"It is death you are going to, Ayrault. We will not help to murder you,"
they cried.

"Then stand aside," and together we
three pushed the boat into the surf,
through the rocks to the open sea, then jumped into her and put off over the fiercely rolling waves. My mother and myself took the oars. My father stood at the bow looking out ahead.

"Come back," came a faint echo
from the shore.

"A great wild wave came crashing
down upon us.

"Nearer and nearer!

"The boat cried out, almost, it seemed,
like a human being in terror.

"The wave struck the boat.

"The cold water rushed over my head.

"I went down—down.

"I struggled to the surface.

"For a second I caught sight of my father and mother as they struggled in the embrace of death.

"I could see their eyes turned at the last toward me.

"Come," their eyes cried to me.
"Come."

"I tried to cry out to them. I tried to cry to them to wait for me; that we would die together in each other's arms.
"I struggled to get nearer to them."

Then something seemed to snap in my head, and once more I stood on the beach.

"You are faint?" she said.

"My father," I muttered, "where is he?"

"Your father!"

"Yes, yes, the old man, where is he?"

"See, he is stumbling along there."

Like one in a dream, he came slowly
toward us.

Terror and pleasure stupefied me.
His eyes rested on the snow in front of him. Then suddenly he raised them to mine.

He threw up his arms; he started forward; he cried out, a cry of peace, happiness, a cry from a soul flowing over with exultation.

My father's eyes looked deep into mine. My father's arms were about my neck.

"At last," he cried, "at last, my son,
back to me, and now rest."

And with a low moan the old man—
Ayrault, my father—fell back upon the snow and was dead.

And now often my father and my mother come to me when the moon
shines in upon my couch, and we sit together in the moonlight, and he tells me
the old story; how during his lifetime
my mother and I had come to him to minister to him; how I had promised to come back to him so that he might rest.

I ask him every night if am to live
on forever, but he answers not.

So we hold each other's hands, and the
spirits in the moonlight sing to us,
and we are happy.

I, even I, am happy, though they do
keep me locked up here in a cell night
and day.—New York Sun.

Fifty Feet of Rainfall Annually.

There is always more or less guess-work concerning the amount of rain that falls during any storm period. Throughout the United States the amount that falls on any one day rarely exceeds one inch. There are certain portions of the globe, however, that are frequently, and others only occasionally, deluged with water. On the southern slopes of the Himalaya mountains, at an altitude of 4,500 feet, 610 inches of rainfall have been registered in a single year, of which amount 147 inches (12 feet 3 inches) fell in the month of June. At a meteorological station in latitude 18
degrees, near the western boundary of Hindustan, the average rainfall for the 15 years ending with 1893 was 254
inches. In the northwestern part of England, at an altitude of 1,300 feet, the average annual rainfall is 146 inches, 111 inches in excess of the mean for St.
Louis, which is but 37 inches and a fraction.

The wonderful record given above is still more phenomenal when we consider the fact that all the moisture the atmosphere is capable of holding at any one time would cover the entire surface of the globe to a depth of less than four inches should it all be instantly precipitated.—St. Louis Republic.

Could Wait Too.

"Is anybody waiting on you, madam?"
inquired the floorwalker.

matron fiercely. "I reckon they're waiting to see if I won't go away without staying for the 17 cents in change that's a-comin' to me!"—Chicago Tribune.

A Wise Provision.

Teacher—Can you mention some wise
provisions of nature?

Boy—Yes'm. When girls can't have boy will do anything they want, only so they'll stop; and they would be bossin' the boys that way all the time,

nature.

public, and put on more cars.—N. Y.

Man and His Surroundings.

"Do you think that a man can become superior to his surroundings?"
asked the reflective young man.

"For instance?"

"Well, take the modern chappie.
You can't make him better than his clothes to save your life."—Washington

A Beautiful Scheme.

ON THE TRACK.

Blood Stains Which Bothered the Wide-Awake Detectives.

The sidewalk in front of Dr. Jamieson's drug store on Sixty-third street was splashed with crimson stains. At one place there was a red blotch, as though the ruddy fluid had formed a pool. Very few persons had appeared on the street and the stores had not yet opened when the first man saw the stains and stopped suddenly. He stood on the edge of the sidewalk and studied the red spots. A second man came around the corner and joined him,
says the Chicago Record.

"Something happened here," remarked the first.

"Looks like it. That's blood, sure enough."

"Might have been a case of nosebleed."

"A man wouldn't stand in the street and let his nose bleed that much. He'd go into some store."

"That's so."

"Whoever it was bled a good deal."

A third man arrived.

"Did anyone hear a noise during
the night?" he asked brusquely.

No one could answer.

"Let's look for tracks," he said.

They walked around the place of slaughter and were rewarded by finding various kinds of tracks leading in all possible directions.

Then came a policeman. His first question was: "Did you see any of the parties?"

No one had seen them.

"I am positive of one thing," said
the policeman. "No man could bleed
that much and live."

"That's what he couldn't," said
the third man, who seemed to have appointed himself chief of the citizens' posse. "What's more, officer,
if any crime has been committed
here it will be necessary to have some of this blood for evidence. Here are three witnesses who saw the pool of blood, but we can't say that it's human blood. You must take a lot of blood-soaked dirt to some chemist and have it analyzed."

"Examined, you mean," said the second citizen.

"It's all the same thing."

"I know about what to do," said
the officer, who was pacing off distances, and critically gazing at all
the buildings in the neighborhood.

"I've had these cases before."

He went to the corner and rung
for the wagon. A boy came along with a pail of milk, and the policeman sent him to get a shovel. When the wagon arrived about two quarts
of the discolored earth were put in
and sent to the station.

A doctor came, and, after a short examination, said: "I can't find anything except tomato seed."

The clerk of the drug store solved
the mystery. He had boiled some tomatoes, and thrown the water out.

Proprietor of the shoe store—Before I take you into my employ as clerk let me ask you one question:
What do you know about the No. 2
size of ladies' shoes? Applicant,
promptly—There are seventeen sizes
of No. 2 shoes. Proprietor—Engaged!

Sufferer—I had a horrible time at the dentist's to-day. Sympathizing Friend—Did he hurt you? Sufferer—Hurt? After he got my mouth filled with rubber he soaked me with all
the jokes in last week's funny papers,
which I had been reading in his reception room while waiting my turn.

THE CHANGE OF LIFE.

A PICTURE FOR WOMEN'S EYES,

With the Hope That It May Do Some of Them Good.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

To-day there is the happy mother,
healthy boys and girls, sunshine, music,
amusements, the church, the romp
and the ramble, the country and seashore. Whatever healthylife in healthy bodies

may desire, that they may have, and mother
is ever ready to join
with them in the pleasure and fun.

Years come and go. The boys and girls grow up to men and women. Mother's hair is turning white; her steps are not so elastic, her spirits flag; there is an uneasy look in her dear eyes.

What can be the matter with mother?
She is approaching the most important
crisis of her life, "the change of life."

These watchful eyes detect the evidences.
Years bring this change demanded by nature. What preparation have you made to carry the brave mother safely
through it?

Within a comparatively short time the issue will be decided. Either nature fulfilling the law in proper, healthful manner—or there is the wreck of a noble
woman for you to grieve over.

There is salvation in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will carry the mother safely through the inevitable change in her physical life.

All reputable druggists keep for you
this grand remedy. See that "mother"
has it, for the Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was won from the heights of medical science by a woman for all women nearing the change of life.

PRaise THE SHAW FOR MANY MERITS.

FAMOUS PIANISTS PRAISE THE GAZETTE PRIZE.

Everybody Who Has Examined the Instrument at S. C. Burnham & Co's Says the Things Said in Its Favor Were Justified—Conditions of the Contest.

What is thought of the Shaw piano by pianists, vocalists and teachers. This is not hard to find out.

When The Gazette chose an instrument it picked out the best to be had. The girl who wins this instrument may well rejoice. Here are a few statements published in St. Paul papers by those who have used the Shaw:

Oscar L. Lienau, tenor singer and teacher of the voice writes:

ST. PAUL, MINN., AUG. 2, 1892. GENTLEMEN: I am extremely pleased with the Shaw Piano, which I purchased of you. I have used it for some months and consider it a superior instrument. Its clear full tone and elastic touch is a delight not only to myself, but to my many friends, its sweet singing quality being especially noticeable, and I shall be pleased to recommend it to my pupils, etc., I am, yours respectfully, OSCAR L. LIENAU.

Frederick Leavitt, the expert piano tuner:

ST. PAUL, MINN., MAY 1, 1892. GENTLEMEN:—As compared with other first class instruments, the Shaw piano has the charming characteristics of each—all in one. Not a break in the scale. No rattling in the action. Never harsh nor metallic in tone. Stays in tune. Such is my admiration for the piano that I would not trade, "even up" for any upright made. My own Shaw has not required any attention during the past year and is in almost perfect tune now.

Yours respectfully, FRED. LEAVITT.

Professor William Manner, organist at the Cathedral and leader of the German Mannerchor Singing society says:

ST. PAUL, MINN., MAY, 6, 1892. I admire the Shaw Piano very much. Their construction is most excellent, the tone is round, rich and mellow, and altogether I consider them one of the very best pianos made today in this country. I can cheerfully recommend them. Respectfully yours, W. MANNER.

Those who wish to learn for themselves the quality of piano offered by the Gazette are urged to visit S. C. Burnham & Co's store. Several patterns of the Shaw are there shown. These instruments rank in the markets of the country just as Chickering's, Steinways and Knabes, the four occupying first place. Everybody who has seen the Gazette piano is enthusiastic in its praise. It has a pure ringing tone, and its action is very fine. These qualities are what would be expected of a Shaw piano and The Gazette made no mistake in choosing that instrument.

Friends of contestants show a lively interest in the success of their favorites and votes are coming in rapidly. The polls will close at 9:00 p. m., June 30, but votes handed in before this will be duly credited. The contest will be conducted strictly "on the square." No partiality or unfair advantage will be taken or allowed in any case.

STORM A BAD ONE IN LA PRAIRIE

Trees Stripped and Buildings Overtaken—Hail Stones Big as Eggs.

SHOPIERE, May 18.—A terrific rain and hail storm passed over the south part of the town of La Prairie Thursday afternoon about four o'clock, doing considerable damage to crops and trees. At Henry Tarrant's the ground was covered with leaves that the hail cut off. Hail stones as large as an egg were picked up after the storm passed over. Joseph Docksater met with a severe loss. About half of his apple trees were torn out by roots. Others were broken and some of his out buildings were turned up side down. Dan Lawrence from Decorah, Iowa, a brother of Rev. George Lawrence, and Clark W. of La Prairie, was visiting old friends in this place on Wednesday. George James was taken sick coming in with a load of milk and had to stop at C. W. Kemmerer's Friday morning.

Yachting rather than racing bids fair to become the "sport of kings," now that Emperor William, the prince of Wales, the czar and a number of German princelings have taken seriously to it. The three English royal yachts cost taxpayers in repairs alone $90,000 last year.

The London school board is "all torn up" over the question as to whether it shall pay a shilling a week to support a cat which is needed to catch the rats that eat the books in one of the schools. The teacher of the school says the cat is indispensable and she can find nothing in the statutes of parliament requiring her to pay the cost of its support. The school board of London is one of the most august bodies in Christendom. It is composed of men of the highest intellectual powers, but after a long and heated controversy the vote to make the support of the cat a charge upon the school fund resulted in a tie, and the matter goes over until the next meeting.

HOPE FOR THE HAIRLESS.

Professor Birkholz, of Chicago, Gives Hope to Those Afflicted with Baldness—A "No Cure, No Pay" Treatment.

Professor G. Birkholz, of Chicago, the eminent German specialist, who for years has devoted his time and talent to the study of the hair follicles, and who has evolved the most successful treatment for baldness the world has ever known.

He will carefully examine each case and candidly tell you whether or not baldness can be cured and the hair be restored. These examinations are made without charge.

In all cases where there are any hair follicles remaining, by age or disease, the professor will undertake a cure, and if he does not effect a restoration of the hair he will ask no pay.

The remedy is an imported one, and the treatment given by the professor is his own, and cures where all others fail. If your case has been pronounced incurable do not take it as a final answer until you have seen Professor Birkholz and received his opinion.

Many persons have small bald spots through the hair. These increase in area and in time produce baldness. In such cases the hair follicles need nourishment. Prompt treatment will bring them into activity and restore the hair.

The success that has attended Professor Birkholz everywhere enables him to give a positive opinion in each case presented to him. Those who are bald or are threatened with baldness should not delay treatment, but call upon the professor at once, 1011 Masonic Temple Chicago.

Hand this notice to any first-class drug store and he will get the remedy for you at once, if he has not got it in stock.

Toasting on the "Briny"

Is very far from amusing, untraveled reader, I so be you are one. A rebellion fomented by each mountain wave that smites the vessel's hull threatens absolutely to dislodge your very vitals from their natural resting place, and a nausea so frightful that it would reconcile you to a termination of your sufferings by shipwreck. Well for you then, or rather before this crisis, if you are provided with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a swift remedy for and preventive of the nausea of travelers by sea or land, nervousness caused by the vibration of the screw of a steamer or the jarring of a railway train, and an antidote to cholera, liver and stomach troubles caused by impure water and unaccustomed food. The Bitters also, counteracts the effects of a fatigue and exposure, and is a safeguard against malaria, rheumatism and kidney trouble.

RED 'THE BABY'S' COLOR.

Shoes, Coats and Gowns All Show This Bright Color Now.

One of the innumerable attractive pictures which the streets of a large city are perpetually offering to the public eye—they are dissolving views, to be sure, but while they last they are charming—was seen the other day when a 4-year-old boy, tired by his mother's conversational delay with a friend, hung upon her skirts and nestled there uneasily in a way that was probably prettier to look at than to experience.

CHILD'S GOWN OF BLUE VOILE.

ence. He was very fair, with short flaxen curls, and he wore a red and white striped sailor suit, with knee breeches, and short white socks that left his legs bare. His blouse had a wide red collar and red cuffs, and a red straw sailor hat had slipped to the back of his cherubic little head. A prettier costume for a small boy could not have been devised.

Red is much used for children. Babies who can just walk go toddling along by the nurse's side in minute red shoes that must add greatly to the delight of exercising the newly acquired accomplishment, or they wear little scarlet coats or full gowns of soft red cashmere. Kilt suits for tiny boys are made of white linen duck and trimmed with red duck and are worn with short red socks. These kilt suits may also be found trimmed with light and dark blue.

The custom of dressing nurses in any uniform except the modest white muslin apron and cap has attained no foothold in this country, although abroad, except in Great Britain, children's nurses are often clothed in the most brilliant and fantastic garments—a highly decorated cap, with wide colored streamers hanging to the bottom of the skirt, and an ample circular of equally vivid tint. At intervals a vision of this sort glorifies American streets, but it is recognized at once as an exotic nurse who has been brought here by a recently arrived foreign family.

The little girl of whose frock a picture is given was in charge of one of these gayly dressed maids. The child's gown was of light blue voile, trimmed with three bands of white insertion, applied in points on the skirt. The round bodice was gathered in at the waist under a black sash, the ends of which were trimmed with white lace.
